Great Britain: Exit Summary Declarations (EXS)

From the 1st October 2021, EXS from Great Britain will be needed in certain scenarios. SGS e-Customs Services is ready to cover all your EXS needs!

■ Background

Most exports from Great Britain will have met safety and security requirements with a customs export declaration which contains safety and security information. This is sometimes referred to as a combined export declaration.

When Safety and Security requirements have not been met by means of a combined export declaration, an EXS is required when:

- an empty pallet, container or vehicle is being moved under a transport contract (a transport contract is for example a CMR, Waybill, Bill of Lading etc.,)
- goods have remained in temporary storage for more than 14 days
- goods have remained in temporary storage for less than 14 days, but the import safety and security declaration details are unknown, or the destination or consignee has changed
- goods are moved under transit using either a transit accompanying document (TAD) or a transit security accompanying document (TSAD)

From a transit point of view, it means that EXS will be required for;

- Transits (TAD/TSAD) which have started outside Great Britain and which will travel through Great Britain on the way to their destination (in the EU and onwards), e.g., Ireland via Great Britain to France under T2.
- Transits (TAD/TSAD) which have started in Great Britain but were not preceded by a "combined export", e.g., a T2 transit declaration from Great Britain or a T1 for personal goods.
